What Did They Say?

“ Angelo Bucarelli

ArtCloud Network International
Art Director, ArtCloud Network International Culture and Arts Advisor

As Artcloud Network International, we are thrilled to be the main sponsor of the event for the second time. The quality of our meetings were exceptional. We met with many interesting people, institutions, and companies. Türkiye is in a prime position to develop strong relationships in the cultural heritage field, and the companies represented here are well-equipped for this type of work.

“ Betül Değirmenci Breitenfeldt

Founder of BDB Architecture

This is my third time participating in Heritage Istanbul. We serve as an architectural project office. It's important to promote our projects and remind participants and visitors of the sensitivity we have regarding ancient artifacts. It's an opportunity to meet with our colleagues—architects, archaeologists, and artists—a form of networking. Those interested in civil and ancient structures and historical artifacts are also attending. It's wonderful to share with them.

“ Hakan Milli

Hemel Academy Manager and Technical Consultant

This is our first time participating. We're here to conduct workshops. Our expectation was to share our knowledge of woodworking with everyone. We're extremely pleased with the participation and interest. All our workshops are packed.

“ Nazım Can Cihan

Istanbul Metropolitan Municipality Heritage Conservator

Heritage Istanbul is an organization we know and follow. From our interactions with other participants, our discussions, and the impressions we gain from meeting our colleagues, we understand that the fair is quite lively. It's an event we meticulously prepare for and strive to attend every year. It's a fair that brings together experts, academics, practitioners, and interested parties in the fields of museums, archaeology, and restoration, bringing together all levels of the industry.

“ Sinan Türkkan

Founder of Artyol Engineering

I've been following Heritage Istanbul since its first organization, and this year was our first opportunity to attend. The visitor profile we've observed over the last three days is quite high. Experts in their fields, visitors knowledgeable about historical artifacts, and visitors eager to learn more are showing great interest. It's also very valuable for companies working in niche areas to come together to promote and position themselves.

“ Ali Eşelioğlu

CoinTR Ceo

This year, as a sponsor, we teamed up with the Heritage team. We took samples from the ancient city of Aizanoi, the world's first stock exchange, and prepared NFTs of ancient artifacts excavated from the city. It was a wonderful and enjoyable experience, and I think the expertise in the work is palpable. Both participants and visitors are delighted to be here. Very important institutions are sharing their work, and it's humbling to hear about them and to know that such projects exist in Türkiye.

What Did They Say?

“ Leonid Kondrashev

Deputy Head of the Moscow Government, Department of Cultural Heritage Protection

This is my first time at Heritage Istanbul, and you could call it a research trip. We have plans to bring the same experience to Russia, to Moscow. I want to say something to future archaeologists: Everything we see here today will become our cultural heritage tomorrow. Let's protect our cultural heritage today to avoid problems in the future.

“ Bülent Gönültaş

Deputy General Manager of Directorate of Cultural Assets and Museums

It's a very lively event. Technology providers and organizations serving the museum and restoration fields are all together. Organizations like these are important for both us and the industry because they allow professionals to express themselves better. Institutions and individuals working in the same field can come together and form effective collaborations.

“ Lina Abu Saleem

Director, ICOMOS Jordan

I am very thankful to be invited to Heritage Istanbul. I found the event well-organized and very informative. There were expert speakers who addressed topics we've recently lost interest in. This event allows us to refresh our knowledge by bringing together experience and expertise and to appreciate each other's work. Visitors are interested in heritage, art, cultural resources, and archaeological sites. We must work to preserve our cultural heritage. Visitors become aware of and feel a sense of responsibility for preserving our cultural heritage, which represents our identity.

“ Nicole Kang Ferraiolo

Director of Digital Strategies, Smithsonian American Women's History Museum

This is my first time attending Heritage Istanbul, and I feel very fortunate to be here. I was brought here by the US Embassy as part of a cultural exchange program. The vision and purpose of our museum is to strive for a more inclusive past and a more shared future. This is an important goal that we all must work towards globally.

“ Mesut Ergin

Mayor of Ayvalık Municipality

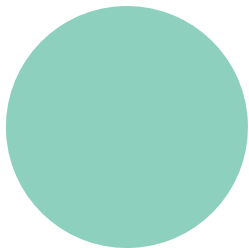

This is our first time participating, and I think it's a very successful event. I believe the fair plays a significant role in raising awareness about the preservation and transmission of world heritage. It's particularly beneficial for public administrators and those working in this field. Türkiye is a country rich in world heritage, and this heritage must be embraced, first and foremost, by the Turkish people. Therefore, it's important for such events to continue to develop and flourish.

“ Merve Gedik

Projects Manager, Istanbul Metropolitan Municipality Cultural Heritage Department

As Istanbul Metropolitan Municipality Heritage, we have been participating in Heritage Istanbul since our founding. This event is a key meeting point for institutions and private businesses operating in the heritage field from across Türkiye. It's a significant annual gathering point for the sector. It's a must-see event, especially for those interested in cultural and historical heritage, to observe Türkiye's progress and learn about important projects.
